

havelok the dane

A LEGEND OF OLD GRIMSBY & LINCOLN

By Charles W. Whistler, M.R.C.S. & Illustrations by W. H. Margetson

(1,010)

In the sack was a wondrously handsome boy

(1,010)

Havelok gave me his hand and raised me.

(1,010)

As the earl said this, the king's smile went from his face.

HAVELOCK
THE DANE

(1,010)

Down went the Norman with cleft helm.

The Reverend Charles Watts Whistler MRCS, LSA, (born in Sussex, 14 November 1856 – 10 June 1913) was an English writer of historical fiction, who set his work between 600 and 1100 CE, usually based on early Saxon Chronicles, Norse or Danish Sagas and archaeological discoveries.

William Henry Margetson RI (born in London, December 1861 – 2 January 1940) was a British painter and illustrator, mainly known for his aesthetic portraits of women. He first exhibited his paintings at the Royal Academy, (1885), and went on to exhibit in many other places. He also did the illustrations for Whistler's Havelok the Dane.